FAMILY COURT APPEAL NO.5 OF 2005

Gulshan Chandru Bhagwanani .. Appellant

Vs.

Akshita Gulshan Bhagwanani .. Respondent

Mr.R.T.Lalwani for the appellant

Appellant and Respondent present in person

CORAM : J.N.PATEL &
A.A.SAYED, JJ.

DATED : 30TH JULY, 2007

P.C.:

1. The parties are present in person and they have tendered Consent Terms. The parties have decided to settle all their disputes arising out of their matrimonial relations by filing these Consent Terms which have been brought about through the mediation of Mrs.Asha D. Kulkarni, Head Mistress of K.C. School for Deaf and Dumb. Mrs.Asha Kulkarni is personally present before this court. She has certified that the Consent Terms are explained to both the parties by her and are acceptable to them.

2. The father of the respondent states that the Advocate for the respondent is on his way and has approved the Consent Terms. The Consent Terms are therefore, taken on record and marked ’X’ for identification.

3. The undertakings given in the Consent Terms by the parties are accepted and agreed by the parties. Their marriage stands dissolved under section 13(b) of the Hindu Marriage Act. The respondent admits and acknowledges through her father of having received a sum of Rs.5,00,000/- as mentioned in the Consent Terms in her maiden name Payal Gaba which is as per her request. Family Court Appeal No.5 of 2005 stands disposed of accordingly in accordance with the terms and conditions recorded in the Consent Terms. The decree be drawn accordingly. On the Advocate for the respondent attending the court, his signature be obtained on the Consent Terms.
